

W. J. STRATTON SEEKS G. O. P. NOMINATION FOR STATE TREASURER

Supporters Meet in Waukegan to Plan Statewide Organization

That he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination as candidate for the state treasurer, was admitted by William J. Stratton of Ingleside on his return from Arizona Wednesday.

Plans to form Stratton Clubs throughout the state were made the previous night at a meeting of the former secretary of state's supporters in Waukegan. Circuit Judge Ralph Dady, Col. A. V. Smith, State Attorney Charles E. Mason, and Howard Scott of Fox Lake spoke in behalf of Mr. Stratton's candidacy Tuesday night. George Hollister, president of the Fox Lake village board, is president of the Lake County Stratton organization. Edward Miller is treasurer and J. H. Larson, Jr., secretary.

W. C. Petty, County Superintendent of Schools, Roy L. Murrie, village clerk, and O. K. Anderson represented Antioch Republicans at the meeting. Attention was called to the fact that Stratton polled the largest vote of any Republican on the state ticket last fall when he ran for reelection.

When questioned, Stratton stated he would be a candidate "unless conditions change. I have received a number of letters from political leaders in all parts of the state asking me to run. I was not aware, however, that my friends had carried organization plans as far as they have."

If nominated for the office of treasurer, Stratton will head the ticket in the fall campaign, as the treasurer is the highest official to be elected.

Organization of Stratton Clubs will start in Lake County with leaders organizing the candidate's supporters in each township. Later, when the Lake County organization has been perfected, work will start on the organization of the entire state.

Revenue Totals $5,000 to Date; Deadline Set by Board

Although county revenue from beer has nearly reached $5,000, according to the report made to the county board by Supervisor William H. Pockington at Deane, chairman of the Fees and License committee, less than half the stores and roadhouses in Lake County, situated outside the limits of the cities and village, have paid their county beer license fees.

TAXES AGAIN

Figures recently disclosed by the National Industrial Conference board reveal that over a third of the earned income in the United States last year was spent by the government local, state and federal units in this country. The total earned income of the people of the United States was 37 billion dollars according to this body. Fifteen billion dollars was spent by the combined governments of the country.

Regarding excessive taxes, the Des Plaines Suburban Times has the following to say:

Back in the palmy days of the pre-depression era, extravagance in many businesses was responsible for their subsequent failure. They had built up expenses and an overhead that could not be met when sales dropped.

Extravagance on the part of individuals, in buying luxuries they could nicely do without, was likewise the cause of great hardship later on. Salaries were cut, jobs were lost—and it was impossible to maintain the old inflated standards of living.

By the same token, government extravagance now is laying the seeds of even greater trouble. Businesses and individuals have learned their lessons—they have cut their sails to fit their finances. Government has not. It has broadened its functions and raised its operating costs in the face of gigantic drops in the national income. It is maintaining itself in a state of luxury the private citizens cannot afford.

Unless government retrenches, the capital that provides jobs, opens new opportunities and creates productive enterprise will be stifled. The farmer will be crushed beneath a burden of costs that he cannot pay—in various states, more than fifty per cent of farm taxes are in arrears and thousands of acres have been taken over by the states. The individual is faced with tax payments out of all proportion to income.

In brief, the work of recovery will be futile if government refuses to trim its costs to fit the nation's pocketbooks.

AIR DISASTERS

Aside from the deplorable loss of lives that was the outcome of the recent plane disaster at the Century of Progress Exposition, such a calamity has a wide reaching effect in lessening the public confidence, without which aviation must undeniably suffer.

Air travel in the few years of its history, has already drawn the four corners of the earth closer together, and it has shown even greater possibilities of shortening distance in the future when this form of transportation has been more fully developed.

The unfortunate sensationalism of such an accident as the World Fair sightseeing plane's crash Sunday night, centers the public attention on the dangers of travel by air, without giving proportional idea of the danger of travel by air as compared to travel by other mediums.

Because the rapidity with which aviation can progress, is lessened by every air disaster, it is especially necessary that a sane unbiased attitude be developed toward this science. And at the same time, the standards which a plane is required to meet before it is allowed to leave the factory and those which the pilot must measure up to before he is allowed to operate a plane must be made rigid and exacting, before air transportation will move out of the class of the spectacular and become an every-day, popular method of travel.

Milk—An Achievement

The responsibility of the dairy farmer in keeping his product at a standard which will satisfy the consumer is generally recognized, but occasionally overlooked. No food commodity more than milk needs painstaking care in its handling and preparation for sale than milk, for the slightest flaw in flavor or consistency can make the product entirely unpalatable to some persons. And no food product carries a greater menace than impure milk.

In recent weeks, there has been an added effort on the part of the medical profession and the milk association officials in the North Shore area, to bring to the attention of the public and the dairy producer, the importance of milk which is pure and untainted by foreign flavors.

Dr. John Pollard, Evanston Health Commissioner, has recently called attention to the danger which lurks in impure milk. Ropy milk, which is not indicative of impurity, but which is to many persons unpalatable, and milk which has a strong or unpleasant taste, have been the subject of recent discussions in the Pure Milk Association Bulletin and medical columns of the newspapers.

Milk is one of these everyday articles, taken so completely for granted, that the consumer seldom stops to think of the milk in his kitchen and on his table as an achievement. Pure milk which reaches the table, sweet in flavor, requires careful handling until the time it is sealed in bottles ready to be left at our doors.

When one stops to consider the labor involved in sterilizing utensils, giving the proper feed to the cows, keeping the barns in a sanitary condition, and the scores of other details which are necessary in the production of wholesome milk, the process takes on a new significance. Left without the ready supply of pure milk to which we have become accustomed in this dairy section, the true value of the dairyman's achievement would soon be recognized.

PROPER DIET AS A PYORRHEA PREVENTIVE

Toothpaste cannot prevent pyorrhea, but the toothpaste advertisers have done a service in bringing to the attention of the American public the dangers of this malady. As a matter of fact, the time to start preventing pyorrhea is before you are born. To insure the child's good teeth, the mother must have in her diet plenty of the foods which build teeth, notably milk, leafy vegetables, fruits and a good source of Vitamin D, either cod liver oil, irradiated ergosterol or egg yolk.

And all through life diet plays an important part in the prevention of pyorrhea. The child should have milk and vegetables and vitamin D taken either in foods containing this vitamin or through direct sunlight, which is of course the ideal means in the warm seasons of the year. The adult, too, should have a well-balanced diet including in ample amounts the protective foods—milk, fruits and leafy vegetables. Adults, like children, should have from a pint to a quart of milk a day.

The adult should be sure to replace lost teeth, as this will help ward off pyorrhea. Naturally, brushing the teeth and massaging the gums are important.

Baby Teeth Affect Second Teeth.
Sometimes people get the mistaken idea that it is not important to give attention to the care of the baby teeth, "because they fall out anyway." True—they do fall out, but healthy baby teeth have a very definite relation to healthy second teeth. As early as 1883 John Fox in his "Natural History of Human Teeth," said: "The preservation of the teeth during the continuance of life is very much affected by the care which has been bestowed upon them during the earliest periods." And this statement is still true.

The factors which may be directly responsible for the appearance of pyorrhea are usually: injury, tartar, either too strenuous or insufficient brushing on a tooth, systematic disturbances, irritations, unsanitary conditions and improper brushing of the teeth.

Although, of course, it is better to prevent any disease than to wait until it is too late for prevention and time for cure, still prevention is even more important in pyorrhea than in many diseases, for cure is very difficult and requires a great deal of time.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" released in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car; the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple:—a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different—he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8, because it pays you to buy it.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN FAIR

SUMMER Sundays are play days for wage earners. Why should not the housekeeper have a restful and pleasant day also, even though hers is a seven day job? If her family will co-operate, she can plan and serve meals which require a minimum of time to be spent in the kitchen.

Food stores are helping the housewife in this matter and are offering foods which can be easily and quickly prepared on Sunday or prepared on Saturday for Sunday use. Why not spare yourself during the hot months? The low cost and medium cost dinners suggested by the Quaker Maid Kitchen can be prepared with little trouble.

Fresh foods which will prove tempting this week-end are watermelon and cantaloupe, new cabbage, spinach, green peas and lettuce. Ingredients for salad making and dressing should not be forgotten by the week-end shopper.

KILL PLANT LICE

An excess of dampness will doubtless increase the infestation of plant lice or aphids. These can be kept in check by spraying plants with nicotine sulphate. The spray should be applied when the lice first appear, and before their number is great. Since most of the lice are found on the lower side of the leaves, it is essential that a strong spray be used, and that it be directed to reach the lice. If nicotine dust is used, the same precautions must be taken. The lice are sucking insects and can only be killed by contact sprays.—Prairie Farmer.

Beginning September 1, the three per cent tax now paid by users of electricity will be borne by the power companies, house and senate committees have agreed.

HOLD ON TO YOUTH

Summer Beauty Sense

By Marie H. Callahan, Editor
Modern Beauty Shop Magazine

It is a temptation to leave common sense as well as care behind us when we go vacationing, but for your own comfort and health be a little wise about exposing yourselves too suddenly to the sun. Remember that spending the first day of your vacation on the beach "getting a tan" will more probably result in a very painful sunburn instead.

Tan if you must, but take it slowly. Don't settle yourself on the beach determined to get a fine rummy tan on the very first day of your vacation. And by all means don't do this if you are spending your summer in the midst of the kind of friends who think back slapping is amusing.

A few minutes of exposure to the sun is enough on the first day; then gradually the length of time can be increased. In any case, before you go out first apply a generous coating of cream or lotion to the skin, remove the surplus and apply talcum powder.

Then, on coming indoors, cleanse the skin with cold cream. After this, put on a soothing lotion. If, falling to take these precautions, your skin should become red and burned, the irritation may be relieved by bathing with a simple lotion composed of one part of lime water and two parts of olive oil.

Freckles are another summer problem. If you have the kind of skin that freckles easily you may be comforted to know that the reason it is so sensitive is because of its natural delicacy, and that this type of skin if properly cared for is more beautiful than any other. A lotion safe and effective for clearing the skin of freckles is made as follows: one-half dram sulphate of zinc; one and a half ounces of glycerin; four ounces rose water; three drams cologne water, all shaken well together. This solution should be applied several times a day with a piece of clean linen or absorbent cotton.

Another common summer folly is the way we eat. It is said that fully 80 percent of the illnesses treated by country doctors during vacation time are simply cases of gastric disturbances caused by foolish food habits. In the summer we don't require as much food to keep up our energy as we do in the colder seasons so we should eat more lightly. Of course, for health and beauty the diet should always be built around fresh milk, fruits, and vegetables, but it is even more important to do this in the summer time, when it is doubly necessary that we have plenty of liquids and easily digested foods in our daily diet.

Thanks to modern beauty science, the maintaining of good looks during the summer months does not present the problems that it used to. In the days when we were martyrs to the marcel wave, which, like "mother's darling daughter" couldn't go near the water. Nowadays with a permanent wave acquired at the beginning of the summer we can swim and dive freely and emerge looking as fresh and waved as when we went in the water.

So arm yourself with common sense, plus protective skin creams, fresh milk, fruits and vegetables in your diet; and a permanent wave—and have a good time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, June 11.

The Golden Text was, "For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever" (Psalms 37:28).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore" (Psalms 121:1, 2, 5, 7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality" (p. 457).

Christian Scientists Are Successful In Raising Building Fund

World Progress Shown in Reports at Boston Meeting

Word that no further contributions to the fund for the building of the new $4,000,000 home now being erected for the Christian Science Publishing Society need be made after July 1, was announced June 5 in Boston at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Members from many lands—more than 6000 in all—heard the message from the Directors, read by Mr. Charles E. Hekman, chairman, which hailed the "sacrifice and unselfish efforts" of those "who have made possible the completion of the new Publishing House without delay and without debt."

Announcement was made of the election of the following officers:

President—Miss Mary G. Ewing of Brookline, Mass.

Clerk—Ezra W. Palmer of Brookline, Mass.

Treasurer—Edward L. Ripley of Brookline, Mass.

In her address, the now President, Miss Ewing, said in part:

"Perhaps never before in the history of the Christian Science movement has there been a time when the comfort and encouragement of our Annual Meeting could pour so rich a balm into our hearts, nor when its inspiration and blessing carried beyond these walls could mean so much to the world of human thought and endeavor. For, today, that world is facing the claim of evil conditions in human affairs unprecedented in influence and extent—conditions which know no barriers of race, nation or tongue."

Begins with Individual

"In human experience, the regenerating influence of Truth begins with the individual, spreads from one individual to others, from group to group until eventually it must loom the whole mass of human thought. Then will wars cease and the true brotherhood of man be made apparent, and seen to be established and maintained by God's law; then will the beauty of God's house be realized and men dwell together in security and peace."

Miss Rosamond Wright, manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners, cited the establishment of "a new branch of The Mother Church in Kenya, Africa, situated 2000 miles from the nearest branch church; also, our first branch in Egypt, at Cairo; and two new branches in Brazil, South America, as well as five additional branches in Australasia. These represent the distant points to which the arms of The Mother Church have extended since our last Meeting."

"In addition, 21 new branches have been formed in Europe, and 42 in North America. Twenty-six Christian Science Societies have qualified for the title of Church. Five new college or university organizations have been formed. The Mother Church now has 2639 branch churches and societies, and 47 college and university organizations."

An outstanding example of how public thought is being "leavened" in regard to Christian Science was cited by the Hon. C. Augustus Norwood, Manager of Committees on Publication, in the annual report of activities within his department. The "incident" referred to was the poll which was conducted to determine America's 12 greatest women of the past 100 years which gave Mary Baker Eddy "the recognition which was clearly due her."

The report also cited the "inspiring fruitage" which has resulted from the use of the radio provided by the Board of Directors. Mr. Norwood declared that the "Committees are grateful for the support that the latest method of calling Christian Science to the attention of a waiting world has received."

Notably larger audiences than usual at free public Christian Science lectures were cited in the report from The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, read by Judge Samuel W. Greene, chairman. Judge Greene reported that during the year ended April 30, 1933, the members of the Board of Lectureship delivered 3080 lectures on Christian Science to an estimated attendance of 2,951,774 persons. One of the two lectures delivered in Mexico City was the first to be presented in the Spanish language.

THE MERCHANTS TROUNCE ANTIOCH ACES 10 TO 8

Business Men to Invade Grayslake Tonight-Chal- lenge Firemen

Antioch Merchants, many of whom were diamond stars in the not very distant past, were too much for the Antioch Aces here Thursday evening when the business men triumphed over the Aces 10 to 8. There were many shifts in the lineup, a total of 15 men being used by the Merchants in search of baseball talent during the game.

Howard Mastne, working on the mound for the Merchants, went the entire nine rounds, and was the big factor in the Aces' defeat.

Some big attractions of the game were Otto Klase, who covered a lot of ground around the ball park, but never spoke a word during the game; Frank Mastne's head-first dive to score a run in the second frame; and Allen Willmore's effort to make an extra base on a Babe Ruth drive. The Aces used three pitchers in their effort to stop the rampant Merchants.

Girls! You're Doomed After You Reach 27

San Francisco.—Girls who wait until they are past twenty-seven to marry are likely to remain spinsters for the rest of their lives.

That is the theory of Cavendish Moxon, M. A., consulting psychologist, who has made a study of marriage here for the last ten years.

"Between the ages of twenty-two and twenty-seven, a girl is at her best," he said. "She reaches the full bloom to physical and mental development. She can choose her husband from the group of men between the ages of twenty-eight and thirty-three, the usual marrying period for men."

"If she waits until after twenty-seven she is apt to find the man of her own age or a few years older already married. As a rule, younger men will not be interested in her."

Moxon said he believed the underlying cause for unhappiness in modern marriage is the tendency of the times for individualism.

"Marriage is easy when everybody has the same tastes, manners and beliefs," he said. "It becomes dangerous for the emancipated woman and individualized man of today. A hunt for perfection is a hunt for the impossible."

Across America in 20 Hours

New 20-Hour Coast-to-Coast Service (including 14 stops) of United Air Lines

Flying faster than any airmail and passenger planes have ever traveled across America in scheduled operations, the new three-mile-a-minute Boeing multi-engine planes of United Air Lines now cruise over the mid-continent route in less than a day. Leaving the Pacific Coast in the evening, the planes reach Chicago by noon and New York before dinner. States traversed between the Pacific Coast and New York include Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Other states are served through connecting air and rail lines.

Chicago is but 14 1/2 hours from the Pacific Coast and New York is a 4 1/2-hour flight from Chicago. The new type United Air Lines planes, powered with two supercharged 550 h.p. Wasp engines, carry ten passengers, two pilots, stewards, mail and express.

CHOOSING FOODS WISELY

By ADELAIDE SPOLIN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

How to Plan Your Own Menus

Although it is true that poorly balanced meals are all too prevalent in our diet, actually there are no deep, intricate secrets for preparing well-balanced meals. The "rules" for it are not much more complicated than for a correct bridge, though they are much less rigid and leave more room for imagination. For your convenience in planning your own meals, I will give you a few simple, general principles as a guide to the planning of appetizing, healthful meals that are at the same time economical.

First, there are three classes of foods that are essential to health which should be included in each day's diet. These are: milk, vegetables and fruits. Everyone ought to have a quart of milk a day if possible; two vegetables and two fruits. One of the fruits might well be oranges or tomatoes, and one of the vegetables of the green leafy variety, such as lettuce, cabbage, chard, kale, spinach, turnip tops, beet tops, dandelion greens, romaine, water cress and Swiss chard.

Why do nutritionists say that these foods are indispensable to health? There are excellent reasons in each case. Milk is known as the most nearly perfect food because it contains most of the dietary essentials necessary to the maintenance of health—namely the vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates, proteins and fats. It is recognized as the one food for which there is no effective substitute.

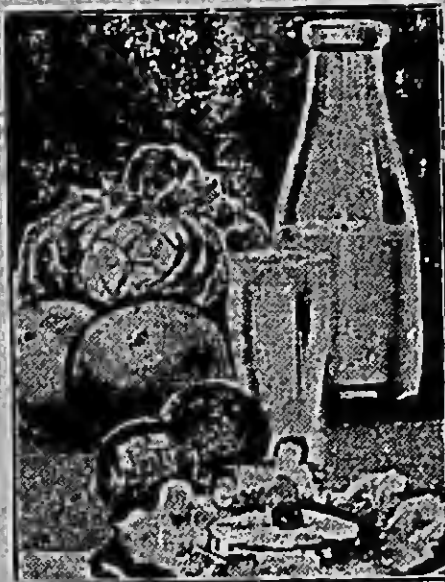

Fruits supply necessary minerals especially calcium, phosphorus and iron, and by supplying water and roughage keep the intestinal action normal. The citrus fruits, oranges, lemons and grapefruit contain vitamin C in generous amounts. Dried fruits furnish iron. Leafy vegetables are rich in vitamin A and in minerals. Spinach, lettuce, tomatoes, raw or canned, and spinach furnish vitamin A. Cabbage, carrots, lettuce and turnips contain a great deal of vitamin C. As do raw onions and sauerkraut.

I am frequently asked to suggest ways to use milk in cooking so that the various members of the family will be sure to get the necessary quart daily. It seems to me harder not to use milk than to use it, because so many dishes demand it. Cereals taste best when cooked in milk; creamed eggs, cocoa, cream soup, mashed potatoes, creamed vegetables, puddings and custards all require it.

Here are some attractive recipes using milk:

Spinach Soup.

Wash one pound of spinach carefully; cook it in a large kettle with a tightly fitting lid for ten minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Take two cups of this cooked spinach and cut finely with two knives. Make a thick cream sauce by melting 4 tablespoons of butter, 4 tablespoons of flour, 2 teaspoons of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of pepper and 4 cups of milk. Let this cook slowly for at least ten minutes. Then add the 2 cups of cut spinach and liquid. Sprinkle the top with chopped parsley. This recipe serves 8 people at the approximate cost of 3 1/2 cents per serving.

Eggs a La Goldenrod.

Hard cook 3 eggs (put eggs into boiling water and keep hot but not boiling for 20 minutes). Remove shells and cut into halves lengthwise; cut each half into four lengthwise strips. Pour a hot medium cream sauce (1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter and 1/2 teaspoon salt over pieces of toast. Arrange the egg whites on this and over all sprinkle the egg yolks which have been pressed through a sieve.

Pumpkin Whip With Custard Sauce.

3 heaping tbsp. 4 tbsp. sugar
pumpkin (ground) Pinch of salt
3 eggs white 1/4 tsp. vanilla

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in the pumpkins and other ingredients. Serve cold with soft custard prepared as follows:

1 pint milk 1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 eggs yolk 1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup sugar

Scald the milk. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and salt. Gradually add hot milk to the egg mixture, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens and eat with a spoon. Chill.

The important thing in planning your menus is to choose the foods that promote health and by ingenuity prepare the various dishes in interesting ways so as to appeal to the appetite.

HOLD ON TO YOUTH

Begin Your Beauty Treatments
From the Inside

By Marie H. Callahan, Editor
Modern Beauty Shop Magazine

Along with the passing of the so-called "good old days" we have also cast off some of the old things that were not so good, such as sweeping skirts, hair sermons, horsehair furniture, the verge for swooning, languishing women—and the idea that to be attractive a woman must have been endowed by Nature with a perfect, magazine-cover prettiness.

Today, fortunately, fainting women are no longer in fashion and it is stylish to be healthy. The modern conception of beauty as typified in the popular actresses of the day is that radiant, youthful quality that is the natural adjunct of good health.

Again it is fortunate that nowadays just about any of us can be attractive if we have good health, good sense—and a good hairdresser. If Nature has given us a bad deal—a nose or mouth that doesn't fit the rest of us or hair that is not particularly color, or a figure that curves in the wrong places, we no longer just give up in despair and with a sigh of resignation join the ranks of the unbecomingly fat. By diet and exercise we reduce or develop that unattractive part of the figure; get a hat with a line that makes that long nose look distinguished, by an ingenious hairdresser glorify that hair of no particular shade, and by clever use of cosmetics we can even remodel the shapes of our faces.

But—the foundation of good health must come first. No hairdresser in the world can glorify straggly, dull hair, and facials and cosmetics can't do their best work on a skin blotchy from eating the wrong kinds of food. Begin your beauty treatments from the inside if you want to get the best results from your outside beauty care.

All of us know we must use creams on the outside of the skin to have that soft, smooth complexion we desire. Why not use fresh milk and cream on the inside, too? In fact, recent experiments have proved that one very de-scribable result of drinking several glasses of milk each day is that one quality in it—the calcium—is, besides being a complexion aid, a very large factor in preserving all the characteristics of youth. Further, milk contains vitamins necessary for building resistance against various infections including those of the skin.

And of course you don't need to be told that intestinal sluggishness is a big enemy of a clear complexion. If milk, cheese, butter-milk, beefy vegetables, clear soups, oranges and grape fruit compose most of the diet, you are quite sure not to be bothered with complexion troubles. For the complexion truly reflects the condition of the general health.

In the matter of selecting the creams to use on your face, of course there are almost as many different types of skins as there are people, so, without studying your own particular problem personally, even an expert cannot prescribe for you.

But in general—take your inside beauty treatments by building your daily diet around fresh milk, fruits and vegetables, and make cleanliness the basis of your outside treatments, using cleansing creams or pure soap and water, depending on your particular skin.

LAKE VILLA MAN AND
GUEST HURT IN CRASH

Marriage of Bernice Nader
to Leonard Armstrong
Is Announced

Carl Miller and his guest, Paul Klug, driving on the Deep Lake road, late Saturday night, struck some loose gravel near the A. Golden place and overturned. Both men were injured and a passing motorist brought them to the Miller home. It was found necessary to remove both to the hospital and Mr. Miller is recovering from an injured shoulder and a scalp wound while Mr. Klug has both legs broken and an injured pelvis bone, and will be confined to the hospital for some time. Mr. Miller expects to be home by the end of the week. Mr. Klug is the son of James Klug, a former resident here. He has been in business in the Southwest, but is now proprietor of a beauty shop in Waukegan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nader have announced the marriage of their daughter, Bernice, to Leonard Armstrong, son of Sam Armstrong. The marriage took place in Crown Point, Ind., on Dec. 12, and the young folks have been very successful in keeping their secret. Both graduated from High School two years ago, Bernice from Warren and Leonard from Antioch. Both have been living at their respective homes, but will keep house on the Deep Lake road. Their many friends extend congratulations.

CORRECT DIET, THE PAINLESS DENTIST

Does your tooth ache? If you were one of your own ancestors it probably wouldn't. Your great great grandfathers had no intricate formulas for keeping their teeth healthy. Probably one of the chief secrets of their success in maintaining healthy teeth was that they lived more simply, eating more wisely than we do.

Today, new evidence is continually being presented to prove that the control of tooth decay rests largely with a simple thing—correction of faulty diet. By correcting faulty diet we do not mean that you must substitute for your usual foods any "special" diet. A diet which is adequate for general health is also adequate for producing and maintaining healthy teeth. However, many people are not taking a diet which is adequate for general health—hence they are not getting the foods which are necessary for developing and maintaining healthy teeth.

Diet Affects Tooth Decay.

Drs. Charles L. Drath and Julian J. Lloyd of the University of Iowa have, for the past several years, made a study of the relationship between diet and children's teeth. They say that to be sure that you are providing for your family a diet that is adequate for general and dental health, you should include the following foods in the daily diet of each child:

1 quart of milk, at least 1 egg, 1 teaspoon of cod liver oil, 2 large servings of vegetables, 2 large servings of fruits, one of which should be fresh, 8 teaspoons of butter and one serving of meat.

Checking the diets of more than 300 child dental patients over a period of three years, Professors Drath and Lloyd found that the most frequent faults of the diet were: the crowding out of the essential foods by including too much carbohydrate food; omitting cod liver oil; taking too little milk and inadequate amount of fruits and vegetables.

A comparison of your own children's diet with the one recommended by these two nutritionists will show you whether your children are receiving a diet adequate for good teeth and general health.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" prepared in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

HintsWeddings Continue To Be Occasions
But Tend Towards Simplicity These Days

Time, Place, Bride's Costume, and Refreshments Are to Be Planned

Weddings and brides are traditionally a symbol of June, the month of roses. But the other summer months, and early fall as well, continue to show an increase in the number of weddings which are made social events. At no other time of the year, except possibly the Christmas holidays, are lovers so inclined to add the frills and froth to this momentous occasion.

Simplicity, because we have less money to spend these days, conspicuously marks many recent weddings. This trend is highly approved by many persons of refinement who believe the ostentation of the elaborate ceremony is barbaric and shows vulgarity of taste.

At any rate, the simple informal summer wedding can be as attractive as any bride can wish it to be. But no matter how simple plans for the occasion may be, there are always enough details to keep the bride and her family in a frenzy of preparations for days before the date.

The time and the place of the wedding are always the first considerations, or at least if engaged couples thought in logical order these would be the first considerations, for the time and the place largely govern other details of the wedding. The bride who is married in the morning, will wear a different gown from the afternoon and evening bride, and the breakfast served following the ceremony, will differ slightly from a meal later in the day.

Morning Service Popular

Morning wedding services, because they are most informal, are popular with brides of today. The ten o'clock service may be performed at the church, in the bride's home, or out of doors. The afternoon service at four o'clock is also informal, but when the service is set at so late an hour as 8 o'clock in the evening, or later, 10 o'clock, the ceremony is held at the church and becomes more formal.

Out of door weddings always supply attractive settings for the bride and her bridal party. Where the home is small and the lawn is large, and attractive, an out of doors wedding is an excellent choice not only for the wedding but for serving the guests following the ceremony. A real or improvised arbor will make an attractive background for the altar. The date should be set for a time of the summer when the garden and the shrubbery will be at their best.

Where the rooms are large, or several small rooms can be thrown together, the home can be the perfect setting for the bride and groom to speak their vows. Lavish use of garden flowers in baskets and bowls will make any home attractive for the important occasion. Even when the church is chosen as the best place, flowers will no doubt be used to decorate the rooms for the return of the wedding party with a few friends for the wedding feast.

The Bridal Gown

Disposing of the time and place of the wedding, the bride's first thought is her gown. This white trailing gown worn with a veil is the bride's classic costume. But these days it is being varied frequently, especially for the simple wedding. The daytime bride will find white organdies, and dotted swiss love-lace fabrics for a bouffant summer wedding gown. Chiffons, and sheers are also wise choices, but satins and heavy crepes are seldom worn at simple weddings. Brides also deviate from the old rule of wearing white and wear a pastel shade for the summer ceremony, and for the bride whom white does not become, this is extremely wise. The bride should keep in mind the suitability of her dress for wear after the ceremony unless she is marrying a young man who has more money than the average young man of these days. The bride at a recent marriage of young fashionables wore a tailored linen suit. For the bride in her teens or early twenties, at least, gowns which are simple and girlish are best. The older bride, if she chooses, may essay a more sophisticated gown.

The bridesmaids will dress much like the bride except that at the outdoor and church daytime wedding, while she may wear a veil, they will wear hats, probably large hats, and their gowns will be in soft colors. Flowered gowns of sheer materials make lovely bridesmaids' gowns. It is not necessary that they be all alike, but they should be of practically the same style and the same texture of material.

When the gown has been selected, plans will next be considered for the entertainment to be offered the guests or if it is a church wedding, the small circle of friends invited to the home following the ceremony. Following the 10 o'clock service, a wedding breakfast is served at noon. However, whether there shall be a wedding party following the ceremony, is entirely a matter of choice. An informal lunch may follow the service late in the afternoon and evening service. Services may also be followed by formal luncheons and dinners, but only the more simple type of wedding will be considered here. Whether it is a breakfast following the 10 o'clock service or refreshments following the afternoon or evening ceremony, it may be served buffet style, although it is customary to seat the bride and groom and best man and maid of honor, the bridesmaids and perhaps also the ushers if there are ushers in the bridal party.

Breakfast Menu

The breakfast, which is really served around noon, is a more complete meal than the buffet afternoon lunch or night supper. The breakfast should consist of:

1. A first course of fruit.
2. A meat course, accompanied by potatoes, another vegetable, rolls, etc.
3. A salad.
4. A dessert to be served with the wedding cake.

Coffee. For the fruit course, chilled fruit juices may be served, cantaloupe halves or a cantaloupe cocktail made of balls of the fruit, cut out with a small round spoon, and orange and pineapple juice, tomato juice or frozen fruit juices. This first course should not be too sweet and should be refreshing.

The meat or fish, main dish of the second course, may be baked ham, fried chicken, fried sweetbreads, creamed chicken, tenderloins, fried or escalloped oysters, creamed crab or lobster and other meat and fish delicacies. With this course may be served shoestring potatoes, potato chips, or buttered parsley potatoes, and creamed asparagus, buttered carrots and peas, mushrooms or stuffed celery. Rolls or hot muffins and jam will also be served with this course. The salad course may consist of vegetable or fruit gelatin moulds and may be omitted or substituted for the vegetable served with the meat course.

Dessert Course

With the wedding cake, which is the center of the decorations on the table at which the bride and groom are seated, or if that table is too crowded, at the head of the table from which the guests served themselves, a frozen dessert is best. While moulds ordered through a local merchant may be an attractive note in the bride's breakfast, equally attractive are the ice creams and parfaits which can be frozen at home. The ice cream may be omitted from the menu also, but in that case, a second cake should be served, perhaps a dark fruit cake.

The afternoon and evening buffet refreshments are much the same. This type of wedding menu includes a salad, jellied meat, creamed chicken in patty shell or similar dish served with rolls or sandwiches and rollishes, followed by a dessert course and candied fruits, nuts, mints and bon bons.

Chicken, lobster, and crabsmeat salads are excellent as the main dish in this menu. Jellied tongue on lettuce leaves, jellied ham on water cress, and chicken and ham mousse are also suitable, although the salads are the better choice for the afternoon menu. Date, nut and orange breads or hot rolls, simple dainty sandwiches of cheese, or date and nut paste, stuffed celery, radishes, olives, gherkins are served with the salad or similar course. An almond-marmalade parfait or fresh berry ice cream make an attractive dessert course.

The right finishing touch to the menu, the right finishing touch to the menu, a nice finishing touch to the menu. Care should be taken to select food which will not be difficult to serve buffet style, and the service should be dainty. Flowers are a decorative touch on the plates, single rose buds or sweet peas. The wedding cake should be cut by the bride. Wedding cake souvenirs daintily wrapped for the guests to take home are an effective touch though this is not necessary.

The table need not be decorated elaborately, but it should be artistically arranged and set with the daintiest silver and china and linen. When the guests will serve themselves, it is best to have the plates prepared with the salad and creamed foods, but every effort should be made to arrange the foods daintily.

There are other details to the wedding, whom to ask, what music to have, what to do about announcements and invitations. The small wedding is usually confined to close friends of the bride and groom and

Chic Chatter

Gingham handbags are one of the latest twists of fashion. The bags are matched with neckties, gloves and even match the hat, to make a smart set of accessories for the street or sports costume. Emphasis is placed on accessories by the stylist this summer.

Linen, dotted swiss and shantung are important materials these months in the jacket costume, which, in its many versions, has become so popular for street, sports, and party wear. Although the three quarter length swing coat is the newest style trend, the hip length jacket is being shown in many smart models.

The importance of black linen can not be overemphasized. Because it is practical, daintily smart, novel and cool, it is a leader this season. A number of interesting costumes can be planned around a black linen short jacket or sweater coat. Cool printed voiles, no charming in this combination as are also bright linens, white linen, pastel wash silks, and brilliant seersucker plaids.

Shoor plique is one of the season's immediate relatives. The groom's friends and relatives should not be neglected in preference to the bride's. When the wedding is held at the church, a larger circle of friends may be invited. It is not necessary to invite all those who attended the church wedding to the home afterwards.

most charming fabrics. It has the airy cool appearance of voile with a texture which is all its own. Dainty afternoon party frocks and street dresses can be had in this material.

Chicago fashion writers are advising women who visit the fair to wear small rather than large hats because the breeze from the lakes makes a large hat difficult to manage.

Speaking of hats, the ubiquitous panama has returned to us this year, its popularity diminished not one whit. For the woman who buys few hats during a season, a good panama, in a becoming shape, is a joy. The hat can be adapted to every costume by making bands for every dress which can be easily snapped on. A printed dress, with a matching band on the hat, is a clever note of smartness.

For evening driving, an ingenious wrap has been designed which has a hood attached to be pulled over the head, protecting the hair from dust and the wind, or left hanging to the back. The wrap is charmingly quaint and demure with the bouffant dotted swiss and organdy dress.

Growing in popularity with the cotton plique gloves, are the new jerseys, some in plique weaves, which have the added advantages over the pliques of being cooler, and remaining fresher at the conclusion of a warm morning or afternoon.

Among the latest attractions in costume jewelry are:

Jeweled boutonnières for the lapel of the tailored suit or coat.

Small jeweled star ornaments for evening wear in the hair.

A lustrous, slightly iridescent, opaque stone called moon glow to be worn interestingly with pastel colors.

Let necklaces in soft and flaming colors popular for wear with pastels.

Gingham, which has invaded the roulins of purses, gloves, formal gowns and bathing suits, has also taken on significance in the lingerie line where smart shorts with brasiere-vests or combinations for sports wear are saucy tempters of the woman who has a flair for the latest in lingerie.
